HVAC TOPIC

Scott Buchberger.

Novelaire

Maintaining lower dew points in classroom environments significantly improves indoor air quality by reducing excess moisture that can support mold, bacteria, and allergens. A lower dew point also increases occupant comfort because students and teachers feel cooler and less “sticky” even at standard room temperatures, which can improve concentration and learning performance. From a facility standpoint, controlling dew point helps protect building materials, electronics, books, and furnishings from moisture-related damage and odors. In many schools, better humidity control can also reduce maintenance costs and support healthier long-term operation of the HVAC system

Education Session 4 | Oglethorpe

Facilitators: Tauras Williams & Nathan Bartlett

Reducing Costs & Building Resilient School Facilities: Best Practices from Georgia Power

Join the energy experts at Georgia Power to explore turnkey solutions designed specifically for K-12 facility administrators. PICS FROM GASFA CONFERENCE AND TRADE SHOW

Did You Know? The History of GASFA

In October 1989, a group of 12 individuals serving as Facility and Maintenance Directors of K-12 Schools met in Augusta, Ga. to create a statewide organization that became known as the Georgia Association of School Facility Administrators (GASFA). On February 5, 1990 GASFA was incorporated. In July 1990, the 1st Annual Conference & Trade Show took place on Jekyll Island, with 70 school personnel and 40 vendors attending. Today, we have over 300 school facility administrators who represent 65% of all the school systems in Georgia in attendance. Additionally, we will host 220 sponsors and 600+ vendor representatives this year at the 2025 Annual Conference & Trade Show. Thank you for helping GASFA to grow!
